

DR. JOREY KRAWCZYN

Vice-President, Illinois C.A.R.E.S.™

Dr. Jorey L. Krawczyn brings more than 50 years of experience in law enforcement, psychology, counseling, education, child and family services, and community advocacy. His career has focused on understanding the factors that influence human behavior, family well-being, safety, and life outcomes.

After retiring as a Chief of Police, Dr. Krawczyn earned master's degrees in human development and Instructional Design and a Doctorate in Counseling Psychology. He served as a Senior Police Psychologist for the U.S. Department of Justice in Kyrgyzstan, Kosovo, and Tanzania and as Academic Director for the U.S. Department of State's International Law Enforcement Academy. He is a faculty member in Saint Leo University's Graduate Criminal Justice program and has served as an expert witness in state and federal courts.

His experience also includes 12 years working with abused children and families, 18 years as a Guardian ad Litem volunteer, and eight years as President of Advocates for Children, Inc. Through Illinois C.A.R.E.S.™, Dr. Krawczyn brings this multidisciplinary experience to understanding the factors that shape individual, family, and community well-being. His work supports the Illinois C.A.R.E.S. Predictive Wellness Model™ by helping communities identify risk, understand pathways, recognize barriers and opportunities, and strengthen protective factors. He also serves as a Christian counselor to pastors and parents who have experienced the loss of a child.
